This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. A WORD WITH THE LIBRARIAN

Knowing that the methods employed in the preparation of such a catalogue as this are of interest to librarians, especially to those who expect to undertake a similar work, we here anticipate such questions as would naturally arise, and call attention to a few other points about the catalogue not because we are unwilling to answer inquiries, but to save time at both ends of the line.

The original MS. was a card catalogue prepared by a number of trained helpers, from four to twelve being employed upon the work for some seven months.

The books were classified by one, shelf-listed by another, and placed on a central table, where all cataloguers could help themselves. The work was checked up daily, and cards were filed as it progressed. When this was completed, each cataloguer took a tray, to copy the entries on printer's slips. These were manila, 3 x 6½ inches, and the work was done in ink with the call number following each entry. The slips were prepared for the printer by pasting them "overlaid" into strips about 15 inches long, consecutively numbered at the bottom (see sample herewith). As the work was done by several copyists, close examination was necessary to avoid inconsistencies. Our head cataloguer, therefore, carefully read all the MS. before it went to the printer.

Printer's estimates were based upon the following specifications:

1000 copies library catalogue; letterpress, 5¾ x 9 in; paper, 8 x 11¼ in. (33 x 46). Estimate on 40 signatures of 16 pp., and on 8, 4, and 2 pp. more or less than 40; linotype two-matrix machine, in 8-point Roman and black-face Gothic: two-columns, catch-word over each, no rule between or over; black-face first word each entry, and call-number after each. Notes and contents in nonpareil, with possibly three entries to the 100. Submit estimate, including paper, composition, presswork, folding, and gathering, delivered to us in bundles ready to bind, with estimate, samples of paper, natural tint, not calendered.

One Merganthaler Linotype machine, with a man behind it, did all the composition, and the great advantage of having it all done by one man more than compensated for the delay. Proof came to us at the rate of about 5 galleys a day, with occasional stops for corrections, during a period of five months.

The Library has purchased the slugs, and intends to issue Supplements and Bulletins in same form, and retain these slugs also, to be sorted in with the original lot, thus giving us when needed a reissue of the catalogue revised to date.

Library School rules were followed rather closely, the cataloguers having all been students at the New York State or Pratt Institute Library School.

During the progress of the work, we have, of course, seen points at which we would improve upon the form adopted, if we had the work to do over (perish the thought), and will mention these that others may not err at the same points, unless from choice, as we did:

1. We would repeat the entire subject heading with each new division of the subject, as we did in United States, thus avoiding the repetition of dashes, and making the headings clearer.

2. We would bring out the authors' names more conspicuously when they follow subject headings.

3. We would try and have the printer chosen long enough in advance (say one month) of beginning the actual work to enable him to provide letters with various diacritical marks in the black-face type.

This catalogue is sent to many libraries in return for past favors. Are we on your exchange list?

We send with this a few samples of printed matter, because we have found such samples suggestive and helpful when they have been sent to us.

Sincerely yours,

Silas H. Berry

Librarian.

ONE THOUSAND COPIES

EXPLANATION.

It must not be supposed that this is a catalogue of the Association Library; five volumes, such as this, would be required to embrace the entire Library.

The Reference Departments of the Library, at 56th Street and at the 23d Street building, are made up of those general works which are most helpful to the seeker for information, no matter what his line of investigation may be, while the main Library at 56th Street is exceptionally well supplied with books relating to the fine arts, mechanics, and natural science.

The resources of these collections are made available by manuscript catalogues at each Library.

The present volume quite fully covers the books in the Circulating Department, which contains about 15,000 volumes. Each book is entered—

1. Under the author's name, or well-known assumed name.
2. Under the subject, or various subjects treated in the book.
3. Under the title always in fiction, and in other cases when the title is one likely to be remembered, or suggestive of the contents.

The arrangement is alphabetical, and not having been prepared for specialists, subjects are to be found under their popular form, viz.:

Birds, not Ornithology,

Insects, not Entomology,

with reference from the technical form to that adopted.

Lest some might expect too much of this catalogue, attention should be called to the fact that the Circulating Department is composed of books selected from the general collection, which was not brought together with the intention of forming a circulating library. One may be surprised that a certain well-known work is not found in the catalogue, when it is probably in the Reference Library, but in a form too large, or too costly to circulate. Weakness may therefore be noticed which, we trust, may be corrected by supplements hereafter to be issued announcing needed additions.

The typographical work of this volume being that of a linotype machine, is subject to certain limitations. It has been impossible to make use of any diacritical marks in the black-faced type, which may sometimes be misleading. The machine is, however, provided with the most commonly used marks and accents in the Roman type, but some of the foreign languages call for peculiar marks, which could not be supplied.
